MATCH PREVIEW

David Wright previews tonight's match against Adelaide City.

After promising so much so often, Cosmos have finally silenced the doubting Thomases with back to back wins against Newcastle Breakers 3-2 at home and, sensationally, against current champions, Melbourne Knights 3-1 in Melbourne. Today they face last year's Grand Finalist, Adelaide City.

The Zebras arrive with an impressive pedigree. After something of a hesitant start to the season, they struck form with a vengeance last week at the expense of both Brisbane City and Morwell Falcons. Eleven goals in two matches suggests that the Cosmos defence are in for a torrid evening up against powerful strikers, Bradley Hassall and Damian Mori.

Founding members of the National Soccer League, City have won the title three times in four Grand Final appearances and boast an equally good record in the cup. This season marks something of a watershed for them. Long serving and highly successful coach, Zoran Matic, ended a decade's association with the Zebras and he has been replaced by John Perin who will inevitably need time to impress his own personality on the side.

Perin's job has not been made any easier by the departure of Tony Vidmar to Europe and the retirement of 421 game National League veteran, Sergio Melta. He does, however, have a core of experience to build upon from the back. Socceroo defenders Alex Tobin and Milan Ivanovic form the basis of Perin's defence and their experience will prove a particular stumbling block task for Cosmos strikers Perenovic, Musitano and Armstrong.

The Price of experience is usually declining pace. Perhaps the strength on the ball of Perenovic, Musitano's confidence running at defences and Armstrong's pace can exploit this potential weakness. The contest should be no less intriguing at the other end with the in form Mori the player to watch. If the Cosmos fail to stop Mori at the halfway line they are likely to find themselves in serious trouble.

The signing of John Kock has been a double bonus for the Cosmos. He has brought stability to the back line and released Paul Wade to his more customary and effective midfield role. His influence has contributed to Musitano's new zeal and brought out the best in youngsters like Michael Garcia. The midfield opposition is impressive with John Gibson and Goran Lozanovski the players to watch.

Both sides are capable. Both sides are confident. Both sides are at the top of their form and are starting to make their way up the table. Adelaide City come to Bruce Stadium with the Best and Fairest Team tag. Cosmos, in contrast, have been criticised for their rugged style.

Adelaide City have the class, the history, the record. Cosmos has a rawness and exuberance which stems from their limited experience. It is both their strength and weakness. Cosmos will be anxious to make it three wins in a row and avenge their 2-0 defeat in their Ericsson Cup debut at Hindmarsh Stadium. Whatever the outcome, we are in for an intriguing game. Only a brave man or a fool would predict the outcome. The team that dwells on their recent successes rather than on the task at hand will be the one that pays the price.

FROM THE LYONS DEN

Eight days is a long time in football and for the Canberra Cosmos the last week has seen a significant change in our fortunes. We have now leap-frogged three other teams, beaten the Australian champions away from home and put ourselves into contention for a final six spot.

We are really starting to play together as a team and I am relieved that the hard work at training is finally starting to pay off. I have been particularly pleased with the way we have been playing and most importantly the attacking options that we have taken over recent weeks. I think we still have plenty of improvement left, but what is important is our improved ability to score goals, not only from the set plays, but through good attacking field play.

I think that part of the reason we have been getting the results is the increased confidence of the team and the belief that we are capable of achieving more than we have been. There is no doubt that we have some very talented players in the Cosmos line up and everyone is keen to make a contribution. We have been playing to our strengths and tonight's game against Adelaide City I hope will be no different. The feature of the Cosmos is the excellent team spirit and our knockers (of which we have a few) have helped to motivate us to good effect. It is interesting who the players talk about after the matches when you have a good result!

Adelaide City are a very good team and have an impressive record in the National League. Their performances over recent weeks have also been outstanding and I welcome John Perin and his boys to Bruce Stadium. From when I arrived in Australia I already thought that Adelaide City were the best team in the league and from results this season, nothing has changed to dispel that thought. I would also like to thank Adelaide City and the support of their fans when we played our debut game in the Ericsson Cup against them in Adelaide back in October for their high level of professionalism and sportsmanship.

Tonight's game is part of a tough holiday period for us which will see us also play leading Ericsson Cup teams, Morwell Falcons on Wednesday night here in Canberra, and then Sydney United in Sydney in what should be an intense fixture. It is important that during this period we get some points and maintain contact with the leading teams. We so many clubs in contention now is not the time to lose track.

With the first round for most teams now complete and everyone having played each other we are no clearer on who the top six teams will be. We have a congested ladder with three points separating the top eight and every week there are a number of surprise results making it increasingly difficult to predict who will emerge from the group.

I hope you enjoy tonight's game. Get behind the team and perhaps we can get another win.

ADELAIDE CITY - A BRIEF HISTORY

Statistician, Andrew Howe takes a look at Adelaide City.

The Juventus soccer club of Adelaide, later to be known as Adelaide City, was the first major Australian soccer club to be formed after the second world war. In fact, in celebrating their 50th anniversary next year, Adelaide City is the longest established of the current A League clubs. Predominantly developed by post war immigrants from Italy, Juventus were very soon one of the strongest clubs in South Australia. It was not long before Adelaide City experienced their first golden era. Between 1953 and 1959 the club won 107 of their 126 games in the strong South Australian first division, securing six out of seven SA championships in the process.

AdCity were one of the keener clubs to advocate the formation of the national league. In the national league's first year (1977) AdCity boasted the highest average home crowd. An on-field highlight of this inaugural national league season was City's 10-3 drubbing of Mooroolbark. To this day this stands as the highest number of goals scored by a national league team. The club's first national trophy was the 1979 knock-out cup.

Stability and consistency have always been the trademarks of AdCity, one of only three clubs to compete in all twenty national league seasons to date. In playing in every one of the first thirteen seasons, AdCity stalwart Buggy Nyskohus was the first player to chalk up 300 national league appearances. The next player to attain this feat was teammate Sergio Melta, who then went on to play over 400 games - a record unlikely to be equalled in the foreseeable future. AdCity and Socceroo goalkeeper Robert Zabica played an unrivalled 170 consecutive national league games between January 1988 and October 1993. Former player Zoran Matic holds the coaching record for consecutive matches with the one club by leading AdCity through 270 league games between 1986 and 1995. Current coach John Perin, who played for AdCity in their first five national league seasons, assisted Matic in the coaching ranks.

Adelaide City won their first championship the hard way in 1986. In a two legged grand final against UTS Olympic, AdCity went down 1-0 at home, recovering to win the return away leg 3-1. Remarkably AdCity have appeared in the last four national league grand finals. Victories occurred in 1992 and 1994, both times against Melbourne Knights in Melbourne. It will be a major surprise if the ever reliable Adelaide City don't feature in the climax of this year's Ericsson Cup.

ACT ACADEMY OF SPORT

Last week, coach Chris Tanzey was announced as the new ITC Coach for ACT Women. Chris will combine this role with his current position with the Academy boys, and become a full-time coach. The 38-year-old Tanzey hails from England, coming to Australia 15 years ago after spending five years as a professional at Liverpool. At Anfield since his school days, Tanzey worked his way through the ranks into Reserve Grade, and then into the big time. In Australia, Chris continued as a player in Canberra, before becoming Assistant Coach at Canberra Griffins, then taking charge of Canberra City's Premier League side. He has been the ACT Academy Boys' Coach for two seasons now. The last home game saw the boys return to Bruce to play the Newcastle Breakers smarting from a hiding by Queensland Academy. The coaching staff were very pleased with the commitment and courage that the boys displayed against the Breakers, and we were very unlucky not to come away with a win. Newcastle snatched a draw towards the end of the game. Before that Lindsay Wilson had headed home a Scott Conlon free-kick and Antony Barac had finished off a neat passing move between Wilson and Daniel Bennett. In the final few minutes we had three good chances to win the game, but in the end we had to be satisfied with a 2-2 draw. In an effort to strengthen the defence, Chris Tanzey has called upon Canberra City stalwart, Craig Rankine, to help out. Chris has been alarmed at the number of goals the team has been conceding, and believes that Rankine is the player to plug the holes and to assist the younger players around him. Craig has been working hard over the last two weeks to regain match fitness to take his place in the first team.

EASIER

ERICSSON  MOBILE PHONES

From The Grandstand

Chris Kunz reviews the performance, average attendances, entertainment value (EV), players to watch (PTW) and potential of two of the A League's 12 teams after the Round 9 weekend and bravely predicts where they will be after 33 rounds

There has been so little between teams in the inaugural A League Ericsson Cup that of the 53 games played so far (to the end of Round 9 last weekend), only two have resulted in wins by more than two goals (Brisbane 5 Newcastle 0 in Round 4 and UTS Olympic 3 Wollongong 0 in Round 6). Crowds to the end of Round 9 totalled 229,776 with a match average of 4,335 - up more than 23% on last season.

Adelaide City

Place: 8th - Attendance: Home Total 19,335 (Av. 4,834) - Away Total 17,958 (Av. 4,490).

Our visitors today have a pedigree second to none in the A League. Through much of their time in the National competition there had been one constant - Zoran Matic. Zoran was not only a great coach, but a great personality - one who was regularly critical of the ethnic face of most national league clubs. Adelaide City are progressive in that regard, but their Italian backing is still obvious and dominant.

Now in the post-Matic era, care for the Zebras has passed to former player and long-time Matic assistant, Johnny Perin, who is trying to continue the tradition of playing flowing, cultured football that places great importance on retaining the ball. Adelaide City is the football purist's team.

The heart of the Socceroo defence (Tobin, Ivanovic) plus the backing of new star keeper Petkovic and Mori up front, provides a solid structure to support a range of talented but relatively inexperienced youngsters. Expect them to pick up as the campaign continues.

PTW: Damien Mori - a fast striker with a lethal finish; Milan Ivanovic - the Socceroo sweeper - watch how he is always looking, reading the game and anticipating. As Pele said, the key to playing football well is to constantly ask oneself "If I received the ball now, what would I do with it?" Ivanovic embodies this philosophy superbly, has terrific skills and is not scared to run with the ball into space.

EV: 8/10 Tip: 4th Place Av. home attendance: 5,000

Morwell Falcons

Place: 4th - Attendance: Home Total 16,865 (Av. 3,373) Away Total 16,483 (Av. 4,121).

Late last season Morwell were in disarray. The team play was a shambles and morale and confidence were low. Coach Bobby MacLachlan resigned, leaving assistant coach Harry Bingham to pick up the pieces. Bingham transformed the team overnight into a successful and capable unit that can attack at pace but play some delightful short-passing football. They are very well organised and will no doubt be a handful for the Cosmos on Wednesday. The trip to the Latrobe Valley is very pleasant, but tiring for visiting teams. On the road, Morwell are as tough a visitor as any.

The city of Morwell is justifiably proud of its team - the only one to strut the national stage from the Latrobe Valley region. It is a great place to visit, if only to gaze upon the magnificent tri-hatted grandstand, the inspiration of former Club President Don Di Fabrizio, who company was involved in the construction of the Great Southern Stand at the MCG.

Morwell Falcons was a club started by Italians, but their participation in the national competition and live match coverage on Radio 3TR and Gippsland FM has helped broaden their support base significantly.

PTW: Ernie Tapai is a real dynamo - watching him play football is like watching a tennis match - he is up and back and involved all the time. Yet he isn't just a runner down the sideline. Keep your eye on him next Wednesday night and you'll see that he has great ball skills, good vision and a good shot with both feet. Sonny Sevin - Morwell's pocket rocket.

EV: 7/10 Tip: 5th place Av. Home Attendance: 3,500

Howe did I know..?

The total attendance for Round 9 of 37,561 was the 7th highest in National League history behind: 50,100 Rd 26, 1978 (when 16,251 watched West Ad. clinch the title after the Adelaide derby); 45,000 Rd 6, 1979 (when the biggest crowd ever of 18,367 watched Newcastle KB v Syd Olympic); 43,400 Rd 1 1978: 42,700 Rd 12, 1979; 40,600 Rd 1983 ...while the match average from Rd 9 of 6,260 was the 3rd highest ever...and the 11,145 at Leichhardt was the largest non-finals Sydney crowd since the Olympic-APIA game at Pratten Park in 1982!
